HOLIDAY RIDDLES

I am worn for the big night,
I catch the ballroom light.
I can be red or deep green,
the most fabulous look
ever seen.

I keep the bubbly cool,
but I'm no winter pool.
I sparkle and hold the ice,
a host's sophisticated vice.
What am I?

I am fuzzy and warm,
protecting you from the cold.
I can be cable-knit or cashmere thin.
the perfect way to cozy on in.
What am I?

I sit on the mantel,
bright as a candle.
Filled with gifts, but I'm not a box. I'm knitted by grandmas or tailored by Saks.
What am I?

I come in deep tones,
I cover your bones.
I feel luxurious and soft to the touch, and you can't get enough of my plush.
What am I?

I sparkle but make no noise,
a thousand little joys.
I'm the crown of your table
or on the tree.
reflecting the light for all guests to see.
What am I?

I hide my scent under glass,
waiting for the hostess to pass.
I fill your home with pine and smoke,
a fragrant, luxurious final stroke.
What am I?
